

20% OFF* ENERGY STAR APPLIANCES
ALL APPLIANCES ON SALE*

PACIFIC SALES
 KITCHEN, BATH & ELECTRONICS
CLICK HERE
 for complete details

Highest in Quality
 1,000 Top-Rated Local Companies are Profiled

Saturday, April 24, 2010 SANTA CRUZ, CA | Now: 54°F | High: 64°F | Low: 44°F | 5-Day Forecast

Login | Register | E-Edition
 Subscriber Services | Mobile Edition

Santa Cruz Sentinel

Site Web Search powered by YAHOO! SEARCH home news - business - sports - entertainment - opinion - obituaries - blogs - community - contact us - jobs - cars - homes - classifieds - print ads -

Friend us on Facebook

BOOKMARK Print Email Font Resize

Share 0 tweet

Most Viewed

RSS

Most E-Mailed

(From the last 12 hours)

1. Police search for man who forces his way into woman's car, attempts...
2. County cops bust six, seize more than 1,000 marijuana plants in...
3. Judge Paul Burdick reverses course to pave way for La Bahia...
4. Six arrested in marijuana cultivation case; 1,000 plants seized...
5. Santa Cruz teen arrested on suspicion of felony vandalism tied to...
6. Tacos Morenos opens new Scotts Valley shop
7. UC Santa Cruz faculty votes to end mandatory student evaluations
8. Toyota truck wrecks on Highway 1-17 interchange, snarling traffic
9. Boy Scouts ordered to pay $18.5M in sex abuse case
10. Cops and Courts: April 23, 2010

Related Content

- Judge Paul Burdick reverses course to pave way for La Bahia demolition, hotel construction
- UC Santa Cruz faculty votes to end mandatory student evaluations
- Highway 1/Salinas Road project starts: $30 million project aimed at increasing safety
- Watsonville neighborhood celebrates park
- Actor Jeff Swan does amazing turn in "Wrecks"
- Rail line purchase garners bus district support, with a price
- Deputies searching for man who tried to rape woman in her van
- UCSC faculty defend fined students
- Gary Griggs, Our Ocean Backyard: Calamari: small, large and extra large
- County cops bust six, seize more than 1,000 marijuana plants in undercover

A poet's last stand: Though critically ill, Morton Marcus insists on living the remainder of his life with energy, grace and humor

By WALLACE BAINE
 Posted: 08/30/2009 01:30:27 AM PDT

If you're planning to go see Morton Marcus speak at what's being billed as his "last poetry reading," you'd better bring a sense of humor. Because he'll certainly be armed with his.

The celebrated Santa Cruz poet, film critic and memoirist is gravely ill with cancer and facing what is certain to be the last months of his life. But he's not about to bow down to death and begin living any differently than he has lived in the past.

"I don't wrestle with mortality," he said. "He doesn't play fair."

In fact, Marcus, 72, is not even giving in to the notion that Tuesday's event at the Capitola Book Cafe will be his last poetry reading "Maybe," he said. It's not so much the sobering finality of such a pronouncement that he's resisting, it's the grandiosity of the idea.

"I'm just trying to live my life the way I've always lived it," he said. "I just believe in humor. I'm still telling bad jokes. But now that I'm sick, I expect people to laugh at them."

To illustrate his keep-on-keeping-on attitude, Marcus tells a story about an emotional conversation he had with his wife Donna shortly after his terminal diagnosis.

"She said, I don't know how you do it. I don't know how you keep your spirits up. One day, those spirits are going to fly right out the window.' And I said, Well, what do you want me to do? Go open the window?"

Tuesday's reading will consist of personal favorites from many of Marcus' past books of poetry, plus the announcement of two positive developments in his poetry career: the publication of his latest book, "The Star Wizard's Legacy," Marcus's translation of the work of the late Serbian poet Vasko Popa; and the impending publication of what is likely to be his last volume of poems, to be titled "The Dark Figure in the Doorway." He will read some of the "Dark Figure" poems at Tuesday's event, he said.

Despite diminished strength and energy, Marcus has continued to perform the public roles he has played for years since retiring after a long career teaching literature and writing at Cabrillo College -- leading regular Saturday morning film discussions at the Nickelodeon and co-hosting the locally produced film-review show "Cinema Scene." Neither gig is he willing to give up quite yet. "As long as my brain functions, I'm just going to keep doing it till I just can't do it anymore."

Advertisement

USF UNIVERSITY OF SAN FRANCISCO
 MBA for Executives at USF
 An MBA program for experienced managers and executives
 JOIN US FOR AN INFORMATIONAL LUNCHEON →

In 2008, Marcus published "Striking Through the Masks," part memoir of his youth, part meditation on the great poets he has known, both as a poet of repute, and as a host of the longtime KUSP "Poetry Show." The publication of "Masks," said Marcus, has "made my dying easier. To not have told that story and talk about the other poets would have been difficult."

Marcus said he finds ruminating on his own death an exercise in narcissism that he avoids as much as possible, instead focusing on the small blessings of everyday life. In the end, there is no aphorism that makes any sense of the drama of mortality.

"The whole experience of life and death is just absurd. This is a universe that keeps rolling along killing

Where Locals Bank
SANTA CRUZ COUNTY BANK
 Put your money where your life is.
 Member FDIC 457.5000

MUSIC TOGETHER
 BRINGING HARMONY HOME!
 FREE CLASS!

If You Purchased a Gas-Powered Lawn Mower

From 1994 to April 12, 2010,

You Could Receive Money and Other Benefits from Class Action Settlements

Click Here:
www.LawnMowerClass.com

- operation
- Santa Cruz Planning Commissioner David Foster says he will run for council
- Tacos Morenos opens new Scotts Valley shop
- Coast Lines: April 24, 2010
- $9.5 million parking garage for Capitola?
- Banners advertising Ducky Derby swiped
- Santa Cruz teen arrested on suspicion of felony vandalism tied to 350 tags
- Jennifer Parrish, Go Green: Can coal be clean - and what does that mean?
- St. Joseph's uses 'Appreciative Inquiry'
- Home & Garden Digest: April 24, 2010
- Homegrown tomatoes in the starting blocks
- Best Bets: April 24, 2010

everything in its path, and we try to make sense of it. It's ridiculous."

Yet the struggle to maintain his lifestyle in the face of painful treatments has taught him a few things about the emotional strength it takes to face the stiff headwinds of mortal illness. Reflecting his lifelong love of film, Marcus turns to the memorable climactic scene of the classic 1954 film "On the Waterfront."

"There's the scene on the waterfront when Lee J. Cobb and his goons get Marlon Brando down in the meeting house there and just beat the hell out of him and leave him there. Karl Malden and Eva Marie Saint jump down in there and say, 'You all right? We got to get you an ambulance.' And Brando says, 'No, no. Just stand me up.' And they lift him up into a standing position, and he says, 'Am I standing?'"

Marcus added, his voice thick with emotion. "Yeah, I know what that's like."

BOOKMARK Print Email Font
 Resize Return to Top

'I HAVE LIVED LONG ENOUGH,'

By Morton Marcus
 I have lived long enough to know that one day
 the earth will forget
 I am here, and will turn from me as if I was a beggar hot and dusty from the road.
 I will be abandoned
 in a marketplace by the living who will have gone home
 to lunch, leaving me
 with the broken crates,
 orange rinds and wilted lettuce.
 This does not disturb me.
 In a peculiar way
 it excites me, making me
 enter each new day
 like a beggar in a story
 who limps onto the page from over a hill, bringing news of miracles in other lands and asks only that the cities and skirted figures in his words remain with you in the marketplace when he is gone.

IF YOU GO

Morton Marcus poetry reading Presented by:
 Poetry Santa Cruz
 When: 7:30 p.m. Tuesday
 Where: Capitola Book Cafe, 1475 41st Ave., Capitola
 Cost: Free
 Details: 464-8983 or poetrysantacruz.org

COMMENTS: Please use your real name to increase your comment's credibility. Please help us monitor this conversation by flagging hate speech, off-topic comments, vulgarity and comments that in any way advocate violence. Terms of service

Read all 19 comments »

Type in your comments to post to the forum

Name (appears on your post)

Comments

4000 characters left

Type the numbers you see in the image on the right:

Please note by clicking on "Post Comment" you acknowledge that you have read the Terms of Service and the comment you are posting is in compliance with such terms. Be polite. Inappropriate posts may be removed by the moderator. Send us your feedback.

Santa Cruz California Real Estate
 Aptos Capitola Santa Cruz
www.mysantacruzrealestate.com

Marcus Jobs
 Can You Type? Earn $74+/hr From Home. Seen On CNN & FOX
JobListingNews.com

Speaker: Ph.D. Economist, Sense of Humor
 He's savvy, he's funny,
www.conerlyconsulting.com

